

Autism Awareness Week 2020

- Autism is a developmental condition that affects the way children interact with others.
- Children with autism experience the world differently.
- Autism is a spectrum condition. Children can be affected in different ways.
- Autism is a lifelong diagnosis, it cannot be cured.
- It is thought autism affects more than 1 in every 100 people.
- Children with autism find social situations particularly difficult.
- This week is Autism Awareness Week; we would love it if you could help to raise awareness of autism. You could read a book about autism, create a poster; thinking about ways to be a good friend to someone or create some artwork. Puzzle pieces are a symbol of autism. Perhaps you could use these in your artwork. Please send your child's teacher any pictures of your work at home.
